EDITOR ALBRIGHT, of the Mt. Vernon Signal, refuses to say that he will support W. R. Hearst if he is nominated by the democrats for president. The supposition then is that he will not do so. That Mr. Albright may be held in line it seems necessary some other good democrat rather than Mr. Hearst be made the standard bearer and the democrats in convention at St. Louis should bear this in mind.

WHEN preachers abuse and curse each other and are only prevented from killing by bad marksmanship, it is time for us lay members to take to the woods. The encounter between Revs Cranfill and Hayden on a Texas train, as they were going to the general assembly of the church, was one of the most disgraceful episodes that has been recorded in many a day.

MR. WATTERSON'S anti-Hearst editorial in Saturday's Courier-Journal is a bitter and bad one. Certainly the great editor has a personal grievance against Mr. Hearst and that caused him to indite the unkind things about the splendid New York democrat. The good of the party did not prompt him to do it, to say the least of it.

EDITOR W. REED EMBRY, of the Danville News, is a candidate for Representative of Boyle. We are for the splendid young democrat.

POLITICAL.

The Ohio State republican convention will meet at Columbus, O. The old Hanna organization will be in control.

Republicans of the Cleveland, O., district nominated Theodore E. Burton for re-election to Congress by acclamation.

Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, has announced that Hearst and Hopkins can have the Illinois democratic convention to themselves and that he would not even attend.

The seating capacity of the Coliseum for the democratic national convention at St. Louis has been fixed at 10,840, which includes alternates, representatives of the press, invited guests, officials of the convention and the general public who will be admitted by ticket.

At the democratic State convention at Indianapolis the delegates were instructed for Alton B. Parker for the presidential nomination and the unit rule was prescribed to govern them.

The man who honors his father at the expense of his own ambition is made of the true stuff. Senator Campbell Cantrell deserves to reap the full reward promised in holy writ to those who honor their parents, and attain all the future honors he may seek.—Lexington Democrat.

The Washington Post prints an authorized statement from William R. Hearst in which he says he will support the nominee of the St. Louis convention, unequivocally, whoever he may be. He ridicules the story that he and Bryan are planning a bolt and will form a new party.

Senator Blackburn hopes to be able to leave Washington for Kentucky at the end of this week. In an interview he said he thought the danger of the Hearst movement had been overestimated, for it was impossible for him to believe that the democrats of Kentucky could be brought to the support of Hearst.

Hearst workers in Kentucky are planning to circumvent the rule passed by the State executive committee, requiring the recognition in the State convention of prima facie credentials, by trying to buy county chairmen and thus secure delegations. Allie Young has been in close conference with John Whalen in Louisville.

Congressman South Trimble, of Frankfort, was renominated by the democrats of the Seventh district, in convention at Lexington, 290 ballots being taken. Finding that Mr. Trimble had made up his mind to nominate Claude M. Thomas, of Bourbon county, if he himself could not win, several of the other candidates agreed to nominate Mr. Trimble, after he had signed a letter to the effect that he would not again be a candidate; after Mr. Trimble's friends of the Owen county delegation had signed an agreement to help Lexington name the State central committee for the Seventh district in the coming State convention, and agreed also to vote for the State executive committee recommended by Senator J. Campbell Cantrell, and after the Owen and Franklin delegations had agreed verbally to support Senator Cantrell's father, Judge James E. Cantrell, in his race for judge of the court of appeals, Hon. J. Campbell Cantrell was nominated on the 289th ballot, but he declined to accept "for harmony's sake."

The plan of co-operation between the Southern Baptist convention and the National (Negro) Baptist convention for the betterment of the Negro's condition in the South calls for an equal appropriation by each convention, the adjustment of conditions to suit co-operation being left to the Negro convention.

Such a row has been raised over the invitation of Fugitive Taylor to deliver the G. A. R. memorial day address at Kokomo, Ind., that the invitation may be canceled.
